Housekeeper in Lincoln, NH

Fun with lots of physical work

Get your work done, show up and be kind and you have no issues! Stay put of the drama...as with any place there is drama between housekeepers and lots of it but if you dont partake you never have any issues with people. Its a fun place to be if you can get along with people.

Fun place to work

The staff and guests are caring and management is always there to help if you need anything. If you like a fun place to work with good benefits this is the place for you.

It's awful

Don't work here! Management doesn't care! They don't care about you unless you're part of their "group"! They find excuses for how you were treated wrong and try to spin it onto you! They could have the worst human being in their friend group that treats people horribly and they don't care!! They chose their friends over you!! If you have something going on and they tell you to go home and assure you multiple times that it is fine, DONT GO HOME, They will write you up the next day for it! I wanna say that it's high school all over again but it's worse than that! Management will tell you can talk to them and vent but than will go around telling people! If you get in trouble for something and another person isn't that's because again they're apart of the group!! They got family members working together and friends!! It's all a popularity contest! If you go to them for help be prepared to have a lot of attitude!! Employees other employees that would work but because they don't they will break you down and break you down fast! If you can get into their group you don't have to worry about any of this!! If you go to work for this place I wish you the best of luck! Show less

Poor Management

Great benefits if you don't mind working with his school management who favors friends over good workers. They don't listen to complaints and just brush them under the rug. If you can work in this type of work place then maybe the benefits will out weigh the cons.
